Returning for the 7th year!

UC I Law School founding Dean

ERWIN CHEMERINSKY

Another Momentous Year at the Supreme Court

Friday, Sept. 5, 2:45 pm (doors open at 2:00), Clubhouse 5

Those at prior Chemerinsky talks know he's frank, brilliant, yet clear for non-lawyers, and with warm down-to-earth wit. Don't miss him!

Erwin Chemerinsky, a leading scholar, teacher of judges as well as students, litigator in the Supreme Court and other courts, and constitutional law expert, often analyzes its cases and trends in print and on the air. Author of 6 books and over 100 articles for scholars and law students, many for lay readers too, at his talk here in 2011 he signed for over 100 of us his new "The Conservative Assault on the Constitution."

He often testifies to legislative committees, including Senate hearings to confirm now-Justice Samuel Alito. His amazingly prolific public service includes chairing the L.A. City Charter Reform Commission. A Harvard Law School graduate, he taught law at USC for 21 years, then Duke, and moved to Irvine in 2008 to found UCI Law School.

Can you explain how some Supreme Court cases impact more people than even most Congressional laws? How appointments change its precedents? Or, thus, how elections turn the Court's direction?

Its 2013-14 term was indeed "momentous". Its 5 conservatives held that: A for-profit family-owned corporation has "religious free exercise" rights; the campaign finance reform law's total limits violate the First Amendment; Christian-only prayer at a town's council meetings is constitutional; and home caregivers can not only refuse to join the union that represents them, but also refuse to pay for that union's regular bargaining and grievance services.

Dean Chemerinsky will analyze those and lower profile rulings that'll impact even more lives, and that extended trends he explained in prior talks: Pro-corporation, pro-business, limiting rights of consumers and workers, defining police power to search versus privacy, new technology, etc.
